

Press release

The Server Labs becomes authorized Google Apps Reseller.

The Server Labs signed an agreement with Google Apps to join its Reseller programme enabling them to create and manage Google Apps accounts on behalf of their customers.

15 June, 2010: The Server Labs (TSL) announced today that they have become an authorized reseller of the Google Apps™ suite of communication and collaboration tools.

Hosted by Google in the Google Cloud, Google Apps is relieving users of the need to have own hardware or to install and maintain any software, reducing time spend and cost, whilst being accessible anywhere through its mobile versions.

The suite of tools includes applications such as Gmail™ webmail service, Google Talk™ instant messaging service, Google Calendar™ calendaring service, Google Docs™ program, Google Sites™ web application, and Google Video™ - all for business use.

“Having used Google Apps for some time and gathering substantial experience with it, we believe that our customers can greatly benefit from its simple but powerful tools and functionalities. Being an authorized reseller for Google Apps we can bring added value to our customers”, states Paul Parsons, CTO of The Server Labs.

- Ends -

Notes to the editors:

The Server Labs

The Server Labs (TSL) is a specialist IT Consultancy and Development Company and a leading authority in Cloud Computing services. Founded in 2004, The Server Labs focuses on the design and implementation of IT architectures and advanced software engineering projects, working with the most advanced solutions and technologies and offering its clients cost-effective, scalable and high performance solutions.

TSL's customer groups are predominantly large and medium-sized corporations, which share a growing need for cost effective and scalable IT solutions. TSL has offices in Spain, Germany and the UK. Most recently TSL started partnering with Amazon and RightScale to facilitate the adoption of Cloud Computing in Europe.

More information about The Server Labs is available on www.theserverlabs.com

For more information, related images or videos please contact us.

Contact details:

The Server Labs
Beatrice Dittrich
Corporate Marketing and Communication

the IT architects

Tel: +34 91 549 7318
Mobile: +34 639 168 579
email: bdittrich@theserverlabs.com